

MATT CANAVAN

Minister for Resources and Northern Australia
Senator for Queensland, based in Rockhampton

Queensland Labor is using water quality in the Great Barrier Reef as a pawn to attack farmers rights.

With the help of George Christensen, the Federal LNP Senate Team has established a Senate Inquiry into the regulation of farm practices that impact water quality outcomes in the Great Barrier Reef.

But various green groups are making lots of submissions to the inquiry.

And I know from past experience that these green groups are lawyered up.

If we don't act, these green groups will try to stack the submissions in their favour and make it harder to defend farmers rights.

YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE. HERE'S HOW:

If you are impacted by Labor's radical anti-farming laws - whether it's Palaszczuk's new Reef Regulations or Labor's Greens-inspired Vegetation Management Laws - I am urging you to make a submission to the inquiry.

All you have to do is put your opinions of Labor's laws in writing, and provide them to the committee.

To make a submission, just email your story to rrat.sen@aph.gov.au with the subject: 'Submission to the Inquiry into the regulation of farm practices that impact water quality outcomes in the Great Barrier Reef.'

Your submission doesn't have to be long. It just has to address any part of the criteria as set out on this webpage.

You can simply explain how Labor's new regulations have or will affect your farm's productivity, and the economic impact of Labor's farm-restricting laws.

If you require assistance making a submission, the Committee Secretariat can be contacted during business hours on 02 6277 3511.

But you must get in fast. Submissions close on November 9 - that's only a week away!

I want your voice to be heard. We must make Labor accountable for their attacks on farmers rights.

Best regards,
