Your local QSL office has reopened

Following the Queensland Government's recent easing of coronavirus restrictions, your local QSL office has reopened.

To help protect the health of our growers and staff, we ask that before visiting the office you:

- Make an appointment. This helps to ensure the number of people visiting the office are within government guidelines.
- Stay home if you're not well.
- Observe the usual social distancing protocols, such as maintaining 1.5 metres from others, avoiding contact and regularly washing/sanitising your hands.

Farm visits also remain available.

To make an appointment, please contact your local QSL team.
