

Monday, 26 July 2021

- We are planning to resume crushing operations at Inkerman Mill tomorrow.
- Our investigations confirmed the root cause of the recent issues with Inkerman's No.1 boiler was in line with our predictions.
- Crews are now working to rectify these gaps.
- We have undertaken additional inspections to confirm the issue is confined to the recognised problem area around the steam-water separators in the boiler.
- Our work teams will continue to work through to late tonight, and our engineering staff will review the work that has been completed before closing the boiler and commencing light-up.
- The light-up period will include an extended wash period to ensure any deposits are removed downstream before commencing operations.
- Our aim is to resume crushing operations around midday tomorrow.
- Our field officers will contact with Inkerman Mill harvesting groups this afternoon regarding tomorrow's loading.
- Thank you for your patience as we work towards the resumption of normal operations.

Best regards

PAUL TURNBULL

Burdekin Regional Operations Manager