QSL: Celebrating a century of service

Pictured: The Hambleton Sugar Mill was opened in 1883 in Edmonton, an outer southern suburb of Cairns. Established by Thomas Swallow a year after planting the first sugarcane crop in the area, original throughput at Hambleton matched that of nearby mills in Gordonvale and Babinda. However due to urban encroachment in the 1970's and 1980's, throughput was significantly diminished with the mill eventually shutting down in 1991.
