

QSL Weekly Update

19 July 2024

Now available | Harvest Pool Opt Out

QSL Direct growers can now choose to leave the QSL 2024-Season Harvest Pool and price more of their GEI Sugar themselves by using the QSL Harvest Pool Opt Out.

To opt out, just click on the Harvest Pool Opt Out button available within your QSL Direct account to view the current value of your priced Harvest Pool tonnage, how much remains unpriced, and the ICE 11 contracts you'll need to price it against if you decide to opt out and start pricing it yourself.

More information on the Harvest Pool Opt Out can be found by clicking here.

New QSL Direct portal features

The new-look QSL Direct portal just got easier to use, with a number of handy new features, including the ability to:

- Search for general key terms in the QSL Direct portal via the search bar located in the top right-hand corner of the screen; and,
- View your Weighted Average Price and Advances Schedule for both the 2023 and 2024 Seasons by using the new season-selector feature on these tools

Final 2023-Season Advance payments

QSL has now processed the final Advance payment for the 2023 Season for all our growers excluding those supplying Mackay Sugar, where we are working with the miller to finalise this payment as soon as possible. QSL's final 2023-Season pool results are available by clicking here.

Education | Total recoverable sugar (TRS)

In this week's QSL Market Update, it was reported that TRS levels in Brazil remain relatively low – but what does that mean?

Like Australia's commercial cane sugar (CCS) indicator, total recoverable sugar in Brazil refers to the measure of sugarcane quality that gauges the total concentration of sugars that can be extracted during the industrial processing of sugarcane.
